ROME, TUESDAY, MAY 19.

Return of the 14th Regiment.

The excitement in this county during the week is over the anticipated return of the 14th regiment. They arrived in New York Thursday afternoon. The Express says:

The men look hardy and healthy, and are in the very best spirits. The regiment now numbers 450, rank and file, the muster roll calling for about 800 when they passed through the city, two years ago, on their way to war. They have been rather fortunate in their losses, and have suffered comparatively but little in officers. Col. McQuade was slightly wounded at Chancellorville, from the effects of which he is now a little lame. About 150 men, recently recruited for this regiment, were left behind to be disposed of among other regiments—having been sworn in for three years or the war. Of course they were somewhat sorrowful on the departure of the regiment, as they expected to be mustered out with it.

The Tribune, which yields considerable space to a report of the visit of the Fourteenth, says:

They left with 800 men; they return with about 400 men, leaving 80 three years men at the seat of war. They have been in service two years, been engaged in 11 battles, having volunteered in the battle of Chancellorville after the expiration of their term of service; and the flag which was carried by them has been perforated by 29 Rebel bullets.

The Regiment arrived in Albany on Friday afternoon. Dinner was provided for them at the Delavan House, after which they proceeded to Capitol Park, where they were welcomed home by the Governor in a brief and eloquent address, acknowledging the indebtedness of the people to them and their brave associates in arms, for their heroic bearing in the field, and the noble manner in which they have, on all occasions, upheld the dignity and reputation of the State. From the Park they proceeded to the Barracks, where they will remain until paid off and mustered out.

Utica is making vast preparations for the reception of the regiment, who are daily expected there. Rome was notified to contribute $200 toward the Utica reception, but it seems that the members of our military and fire companies prefer to give the soldiers of the brave 14th belonging to this vicinity, a reception here at home, instead of contributing their funds and their presence to the Utica affair. The preliminary steps taken in this home movement—which commends itself rather more to our local pride, as well as interest, than the idea of contributing $200 to be spent elsewhere—are recounted in the following minutes:

At a meeting called at the armory of the Gansevoort Light Guard, May 13, 1863, it was unanimously concluded that Rome was amply supplied in resources, heart and patriotism to prepare within her own limits an appropriate reception for the brave men with whom she is identified, who are soon to return to their homes, on the expiration of their term of service.

For the purpose of preparing for a reception, the following were appointed as a General Committee:

Lieut. Col. H. S. Armstrong; Major F. C. Case; Capts. L. Roth, J. Smith, M. W. Rowe; Lieut. H. Lewis; J. H. Carroll; Singleton, Jr.

The Committee are taking active efficient measures to ensure the reception a success and Rome will have a gala day on the soldiers' return.

The military and engine companies will join. What the programme will be, or upon what day the reception will take place, can not now definitely be stated, but timely notice of the same will be given.

The time of service of the Fourteenth Regiment will expire about the 17th, and the reception must be soon thereafter.

S. F. TREMAIN, Ch'n.

O. D. PRESCOTT, Sec'y.

The next day, Thursday, subscription lists were prepared, and carried round by active and responsible parties, that it might be ascertained what practical interest the citizens were ready to evince in the matter.

The response was so favorable that Friday night a meeting was called at the Gansevoort's Armory, by the Chairman of the General Committee, Major Case, to take further action in the matter.

Quite a number of citizens, in addition to those connected with the Military and Fire Department, assembled at the appointed hour.

Owing to the absence of Major Case from town, at the suggestion of Capt. Rowe, Mr. L. E. Elmer was called to the chair.

In reply to an inquiry from the Chairman, for information as to what had been, and what was intended to be, done in the matter,

The Secretary, C. D. Prescott, Esq., gave a recital of the proceedings of the Military meeting. He said it was intended, as a starting point, to get up a reception of the soldiers belonging to the 14th Regiment, who were identified with this part of the county, who it was supposed would desire to come here, and whom all desired to welcome. Utica contemplated expending considerable gunpowder over the reception, and had very kindly invited Rome to contribute $200, and go down and see the show. As that was the only invitation that had been extended to this vicinity, it was proposed that we should receive the men belonging here, ourselves. Consequently the military and firemen were called together, and a committee, composed of members of each, appointed to take such measures as might be proper, for the purpose of determining if they could not give a reception appropriate to the occasion. The subscription committee had already raised about $150, and if the amount could be increased to $200, it was resolved to proceed. The present meeting had been called for the purpose of enlisting general sympathy in the movement. At the previous meeting Col. H. S. Armstrong, Jas. H. Carroll, and D. B. Prince, had been appointed a committee to procure a dinner and refreshments for the soldiers. Capt. Smith's Delta Artillery had been invited to attend the reception, but no answer had yet been received. It had also been resolved to erect a triumphal arch, and M. W. Rowe, Geo. Batchelor, and T. Flanagan have been detailed to attend thereto.

At the conclusion of the Secretary's recital of the previous proceedings, H. S. Lewis stated the result of his inquiries as to the cost of Music. Propositions had been received from the Camden Band as well as the Rome Band, and on motion of C. M. Dennison, Esq., that matter was left in the hands of Mr. J. H. Carroll and Dr. S. F. Tremain.

The result of the labors of the subscription committee, for the short time which they had had to operate, was announced by W. C. Tremain as $130.15.

On motion of Capt. Rowe, Col. Savery was appointed Marshal, with his military staff as assistants.

A gentleman said that he understood Col. Savery to be very sick and not likely to act as Marshall.

Mr. Dennison said the Col. had that day given him an invitation to visit Fish Creek, on the morrow, and have some good fishing—he did not therefore think the Col. could be very dangerously ill.

After some further conversation, regarding the probable day on which the reception would take place, and the necessity of enlarging the subscription, the meeting adjourned until the following evening.

The meeting of Saturday evening, after hearing reports from some of the committees, adjourned to Monday evening, when it was expected the whole of the arrangements would be completed.

—The 14th regiment was mustered out and paid at Utica on Saturday, but too late to allow the members of Capt. Thompson's old company to reach home that evening.

Papers for the Soldiers.

Copies of the REPUBLICAN containing full report of the reception of the 14th Regiment may be had gratuitously to send to soldiers in the field, on application at this office.

THE 14TH REGIMENT.—The 14th Regiment, Col. McQuade, we understand, are to be paid off and mustered out at Utica, taking their departure from this city at 8 o'clock this morning. Paymaster Richardson informs us that the delay in paying off the troops is owing wholly to the officers—the captains—neglecting to make out their muster rolls. The 28th Regiment left last evening at 11 o'clock, by the New York Central Railroad, for Lockport.

Duly Mustered out.

The 14th Regiment was duly mustered out of service on Monday of last week, and the Government bounty of $100 promptly paid Capt. Seymour and the men of Co. K. are now at home enjoying a well deserved period of rest after their arduous campaign of two years.

 The boys of Co. K., 14th Regiment, have been mustered out of the service, and are for the most part in our city, enjoying themselves hugely among their friends and old associates. They received one hundred dollars bounty money apiece when discharged, with the exception of those who enlisted after the Regiment left for the seat of war, and some few who deserted and returned after the publication of the President's Proclamation in relation to deserters. We learn that some of the last mentioned were somewhat boisterous when the fact became known that their bounty was not to be paid them, although nothing serious transpired. It seems a little wrong, however, to withhold the bounty from those who enlisted after the Regiment was encamped on the soil of the enemy, inasmuch as they experienced all the hardships, and fought through all the numerous conflicts which the first Volunteers were engaged in.

LECTURE ON THE PENINSULAR CAMPAIGN.—

The Rev. C. E. HEWES, late Chaplain of the 14th Regiment of N. Y. Volunteers, will lecture at Concert Hall in this village, on Saturday evening next, on the Peninsular Campaign, and the war in general. Mr. HEWES has not only the advantage of being very generally and favorably known in this vicinity, but brings with him the highest testimonials as to his services in the army, and as to the interest which he imparts to the subject of the Peninsular Campaign in his lecture.— He desires it to be understood that his remarks have no political bearing whatever.— We predict for him a full house, and doubt not that those of our citizens who attend will derive new, valuable and interesting information from the recital of his observations and experience.

95

WE understand that through the liberality of our citizens in subscribing, and the good management of the committee in expending, that two hundred dollars of the money raised to defray the expenses of receiving and entertaining the 14th Regiment, is unexpended, and the committee decide on Tuesday evening next, to what purpose the money shall be appropriated. Different suggestions were made,—to distribute it among the families of the killed,—to appropriate it for the improvement of our streets,—for the erection of a monument in honor of the dead of our city who have died in defence of our country in this its time of peril. This money was raised to do honor to our soldiers from Hudson, and it is proper that for that purpose it should be applied, and should the committee conclude to make the $200 on hand the commencement of a sum sufficient to build a monument to perpetuate the names of the heroic dead, we would suggest that the same be a county affair. It cannot be supposed that each town can, or will raise a town monument, yet all would no doubt do something toward a County memorial. We throw out this suggestion, because we desire to see our county, and our cemetery adorned with an imperishable testimonial of a free people's reverence for those never-to-be-forgotten young men who have so willingly laid down their lives for our country.

ANOTHER NEWS OFFICE.—By reference to a notice in another column, it will be seen that our young fellow townsman, E. Spencer Elmer, one of the returned volunteers of the 14th N. Y. S. V., proposes to open a news office in this city. His office will be on the corner of Third and Warren streets, at the bookstore of his father, E. P. L. Elmer. Mr. Elmer assures us that he has made his arrangements to make it a permanent business. All orders for papers or magazines of all kinds will be promptly attended to.

BOONVILLE.—Capt. MULLER, of Boonville, is procuring the proper papers to recruit a cavalry company, whose headquarters will be at Boonville. A fine chance for enlistment under a popular officer of tried courage and prudence.

The members of Cataract Fire Company, No. 1, of Boonville, will make an excursion to Trenton Falls, on the 20th of August. Aernott's Band, from Utica, will accompany them, and enliven the occasion with their spirit stirring strains.

BOOK BINDERY IN ROME.—For some months past there has been no book binding in Rome, and the villagers have had to let their files of magazines accumulate unbound, or to send to Utica. Now, however, Mr. W. W. Adams, who carried on a binder here before the war, has returned home with his companions of Co. G, 14th regiment; and we see by his card in our paper that he has reopened his old place of business. Success to him.

VOLUNTEER RECEPTION COMMITTEE MEETing.—The meeting of the Reception Committee held last Saturday evening was fairly attended. Ex-SENATOR HUBBEL presided.

Mr. BABCOCK from the Committee appointed at the last preceding meeting, to ascertain the cost of printing the proposed Memorial Book,—a record of the 14th and 26th Regiments,—reported that the cost of three thousand copies would be $500, and submitted the following resolutions:

Resolved, That a sum not exceeding $500 be, and the same hereby is appropriated out of the surplus funds in the hands of the Treasurer of this Committee, for the purpose of publishing a book containing a history of the 14th and 26th regiments, and an account of their reception in this city, and such other facts with reference to these regiments as the committee appointed to prepare the same may deem proper; and that 3 000 be published, and such numbers thereof as may be necessary be given without charge to the surviving members of the regiment and to the families of such as are dead, as far as practicable; and that the remaining copies be sold at fifty cents each, and the funds thus realized from the sales be paid over to the Treasurer of this Committee as the nucleus of a fund for a monument to be hereafter erected for all the regiments from Oneida county.

Resolved, That a committee of three be appointed by the Chair to prepare such book and to carry out this resolution.

After the rejection of several amendments, the resolutions were adopted; and Messrs. LEWIS H. BABCOCK, JAS. D. REID and HENRY W. CHASE were named as the Committee to procure the preparation and publication of the volume.

The opinion prevailed at the meeting that, after the distribution of two thousand copies among the soldiers and their families, there would be a demand for one thousand at fifty cents each,—this sale defraying the expense of the publication of the whole edition and therefore leaving still with the Reception Committee the balance on hand.

J. D. REID, Esq., made a final report from the Committee on Decorations, and received many compliments upon the manner in which he in particular, and his associates in general, had discharged their duties.

The Committee adjourned to meet at the call of the Chairman,—first directing the Treasurer to publish in the city papers the amounts received by him from each Town and Ward in the County together with the gross amount expended,—which report, (handed to us this morning) is as follows:—

NEW YORK HERALD, N

THE NEW YORK FOURTEENTH REGIMENT. TO THE EDITOR OF THE NEW YORK HERALD.

HEADQUARTERS FOURTEENTH REGIMENT,
ALBANY, May 31, 1861.

You gave in the list of regimental staff officers (of to-day's issue) the name of Charles H. Skillon as Major; this is a mistake. Mr. Skillon is Lieutenant Colonel, and Charles B. Young, Major. Major Young served during the Mexican war as Second Lieutenant in the New York First Regiment of Volunteers.

THE FOURTEENTH REGIMENT OF ONEIDA COUNTY.

A large meeting of natives of Oneida county, now residents of this city, was held at the Astor House last evening, at which Hon. C. P. Kirkland, presided. It was unanimously resolved that a stand of colors be presented to the Fourteenth regiment, now on their way to the seat of war, via New York city. Several hundred dollars were subscribed, and the regiment may depend upon a warm welcome when it comes to New York.

FOURTEENTH REGIMENT VETERAN SOCIETY.

Meeting Last Night—The Organization—A Public Meeting to be Held.

A regular meeting of this Society was held last evening, at Sawyer & Thompson's Hall, No. 50 Fulton avenue, the Vice-President, Major Chas. F. Baldwin, in the Chair.

Communications were received from several gentlemen formerly connected with the regiment in the field, accepting the positions to which they had been chosen at the previous meeting. Among these was a note from Colonel A. M. Wood, signifying his acceptance of the office of Trustee, in which he expressed a degree of interest in the society which would prompt him to exert himself in promoting its interests to the utmost of his ability.

Lieut.-Col. DeBevoise was present and took occasion to thank them for the honor conferred upon him in placing him at the head of the organization as Chief, or President. He accepted the office, and would leave nothing undone which he could accomplish for the welfare of the Society.

Sergeant James McLean also communicated his acceptance of the office as a member of the "Finance Committee," in a brief but patriotic letter.

Every meeting of this Society brings forward in person or otherwise some additional members of the regiment who have been lost sight of, and, by some, mourned as among those who have lost their lives; and it is an interesting sight to witness the warmth with which these noble fellows are greeted by their comrades, with whom they have fought through many a battle, but by the uncertain freaks of war have from time to time become separated. It is an interesting fact in this connection, that at this time there are members of the "Fourteenth" scattered from Maine to Louisiana, including, of course, such as have from time to time been discharged from the service.

The names of several of our prominent citizens who have signified their interest in the Society by contributing to its charitable objects, &c., were last night submitted for honorary associate membership.

Lieut.-Col. DeBevoise announced that he had received recent advices from the front, from which he learned that the regiment was at the Rapidan.

The following is an extract of a series of resolutions submitted to the meeting:

"Whereas, The bodies of many of our late companions in arms are now buried in the fields where they fell, and of such should rest near their former homes, that sorrowing friends and relatives should have the privilege of visiting at times their last resting place; therefore be it

Resolved, That subscriptions be solicited from our patriotic fellow-citizens to fund to be called the "Cemetery Fund of the Fourteenth Regiment," to be left with trustees to be appointed to take charge of the matter.

The subject met with favor, and though the adoption of the article was laid over its objects eventually will be carried into effect without doubt.

It was determined that the next meeting be called at the same place on Friday evening next, and that the public generally be invited to attend.

—Capt. Henry Cross, formerly of the old Fourteenth, now of the Veteran Reserve Corps, and stationed at Alexandria, arrived on a visit to his friends here yesterday.

Fourteenth Regiment Veteran Association.

A business meeting of this Society was held last evening at the rooms of Messrs. Sawyer & Thompson. The principal business transacted related to the late promenade concert, the profits from which it was stated would amount to one thousand dollars. The expenses were as follows:

For Academy.....$300 For Decorations.....$56.25
For Music.....225 For Printing.....234.57

Total.....$765.92

The Treasurer reported a cash balance on hand in all funds $1,292.98.

The thanks of the Society were tendered to Mr. William Payne, No. 300 Fulton avenue, to Mr. George Seam, to the Fire Department Committee, and to Mr. Peter Forbes, for valuable donations.

The Society may now be regarded as on a sound and permanent basis, with a fund to carry out to some extent the laudable purposes of the organization. But the present fund is only the nucleus, and the full measure of good which the veterans aspire to requires the generous co-operation of the charitable and humane.

The 14th Regiment.

This regiment is still located near Shepherdstown, Va. A letter from a private in the regiment, states that it occupies a rebel camp, from which the butter-nut rascals vamoosed in a hurry, leaving a prepared dinner, and several slaughtered hoes, all ready to be cut up. The regiment is filling up, so that its numbers about as many as any of its age in the army. All are well.

Recruiting for the 14th Reg.

Sergeant E. H. Sawyer, of the famous Fourteenth has been detailed to recruit in this County for that Regiment. Sergeant Sawyer comes highly recommended by Capt. Lahe. There is no better regiment in the service. Its ranks are full of veterans. Head-quarters, Port Leyden. The 14th has only eight months longer to serve. Recruits will receive all the bounties.

Fill up the Fourteenth.

The ranks of the Fourteenth Regiment have been thinned by the casualties of fifteen months' service. To restore to it the efficiency which placed the Fourteenth first among the regiments that composed the famous Army of the Potomac, more men are needed.

There is immediate and pressing necessity for recruits to fill the shattered ranks of the veteran army, which only awaits the assistance of the young men of the North to renew the struggle and bring this war to a successful termination.

The Fourteenth needs no commendation in an advertisement; its fame is part of the history of the war.

Will not the young men of Oneida come to the aid of their brothers, anxiously awaiting them on the banks of the James River? They will be commanded by Porter, Griffin, and McQuade. They will form part of the invincible Porter's Corps, which alone held the entire rebel army in check at Mechanicsville and Gaines Mills, and it was they who achieved the splendid victory which was the crowning triumph of the glorious seven days. If the country is to be saved, it must be by the mediate reinforcement of the army in front of Richmond.

Young men! Rally for the salvation of your country!

Rally to the aid of the Army of the Potomac!

Rally to fill up the old Fourteenth!

RALLY ON THE COLORS, MEN!!!

G. T. HOLLINGWORTH,

Capt. 14th N. Y. V. Recruiting Officer.

Good for Captain Lahe!

Some evil-minded person having originated the story that Captain Lahe was sick in the hospital during the battles before Richmond, the Captain writes as follows to the Black River Herald:

"Capt. Lahe was not sick in the hospital, during the recent battles before Richmond,—never was sick in hospital or anywhere else, when there was a chance to fight for the Union. I have not been absent from my company to exceed twenty-four hours, at any time, in nearly fifteen months. Have been in every battle in which the 14th participated since we came into the State of Virginia. Led my company in every battle—had command of the fifth division of our Regiment in every battle, and fought the enemy to the best of my ability. Whoever originated the story about my being sick in the hospital must be a mortal enemy, and doubtless feels bad because I didn't happen to get killed. You will confer a great favor by publishing the above in your valuable paper.

Yours truly,

H. R. LAHE,

Furnishes Co. I, 14th Reg. N. Y. V."

The Late Captain Mervine.—A correspondent of the New York Herald with the 5th corps, pays the following deserved tribute to the memory of the late Captain CASSARINUS B. MERVINE:

The painful intelligence reached us today of the death at City Point hospital of Capt. Mervine, late Assistant Adjutant General, First division. He had been sick several days; but until a few hours before his death his symptoms were in no way alarming. A more widely known, popular, and efficient officer was not in the corps than Captain Mervine. He came out as Adjutant of the Fourteenth New York volunteers, and took active and gallant part in nearly all the battles fought by the army of the Potomac. He has filled the position of Assistant Adjutant General of the First division for nearly two years. A young man, not yet thirty, tried and capable, a brilliant future lay before him had he lived. He was the son of Commodore Mervine.

The following interesting letter in relation to the late Capt. MERVINE, is from Lieut. WM. FOWLER, son of Dr. FOWLER, of this city, and a fellow member of Gen. GRIFFIN's staff with Capt. MERVINE.

NEAR PETERSBURG, Aug. 19, 1864.

Dear Father: Capt. Mervine died at City Point hospital at three o'clock on the afternoon of August 17th. He was taken sick about the 8th of the month, and went to the division hospital, but none of us imagined that anything severe was the matter with him. Some one of the staff saw him him every day, though the very unsettled state of affairs at our front prevented us from being as much with him as we desired. I saw him last the night before he died. The previous evening he had grown much worse, and then, I think, for the first time the surgeons were anxious about him. When I saw him he was evidently very sick. Gen. Griffin went early the next morning to see him, but the hospital was broken up, and the Captain removed to City Point. We were under marching orders, and the General was therefore unable to go on there. He was very much attached to Mervine, who had been with him all the time since he was made Brigadier, and regrets exceedingly that he did not see him. When the General last visited the hospital Mervine was not dangerously ill, and the surgeon in charge, doubtless from the best of motives, misled him as to his condition. Yesterday morning at four the corps marched for the Weldon railroad, and have had some severe fighting. This morning we heard of Capt. Mervine's death, and of course are unable to go back and attend to his affairs, our staff being so small that we have not enough to attend to the duties here, and we expect an engagement every moment. Our division purveyor, Mr. Doyle, has taken charge of the body, had it embalmed, and will forward it, accompanying it himself or sending some one.

Tell the family that no one could be more regretted here than Mervine is. To me he acted with kindness which I had no reason to expect, and which I shall not soon forget. His record during the war is one that any may envy, and in his official capacity as well as socially he had made warm friends throughout the division. Every officer who was thrown in contact with him, and that comprises the great majority in the command, regarded him with the kindest feelings. He was always pleasant and accommodating.

The Killed and Wounded in the 14th Reg.—

According to the latest unofficial reports, the 14th Reg., lost 119 killed, wounded and missing. In Capt. Lahe's company, as reported in the annexed list the loss was 13 killed and wounded. This company suffered the most of any in the regiment. O. Pitcher, reported as mortally wounded, is the son of Milton Pitcher, of Martinsburgh. The noble fellows fought bravely, and no stain rests upon their honors. Lewis County may well be proud of the volunteers she has sent to the War for the Union.

Co. I.—Killed—Geo. W. Clark.—Wounded—Sergeant D. R. Butts, hand; Sergeant W. E. Cunningham, thigh; Corporal F. Beebe, knee; Corporal Sidney Day, throat; Corporal C. E. Lathrop, leg and arm; Corporal John Murphy, severely in arm, and missing; private Ed. Haggerton, mortally; A. McConchie, head slightly; O. Pitcher, hip, mortally; Samuel Cooly, mouth; B. Gillett, shoulder; Michael Casey, slightly.

Forty privates and non-commissioned officers missing. Some of them will undoubtedly come in.

About-Home Matters.

Lettered "Co. K."

We find the following poetic waif floating about in the newspapers, without credit or designation. It is such an appropriate tribute to our own "Co. K," of the gallant "Fourteenth," that we transfer it to our local columns, well knowing that many a grief-stricken heart will pour out a grateful benediction on the unknown author:—

There's a cap in the closet,
Old, tattered, and blue,
Of very slight value,
It may be, to you;
But a crown, jewel-studded,
Could not buy it to-day,
With its letters of honor,
Brave "Co. K."

The head that it sheltered
Needs shelter no more!
Dead heroes make holy
The trifles they wore;
So like chaplet of honor,
Of laurel and bay,
Seems the cap of the soldier,
Marked "Co. K."

Bright eyes have looked calmly
Its visor beneath,
O'er the work of the reaper,
Grim Harvester Death!
Let the muster-roll, meagre,
So mournfully say,
How foremost in danger
Went "Co. K."

Whose footsteps unbroken
Came up to the town,
Where rampart and bastion
Looked threateningly down?
Who, closing up breaches,
Still kept on their way,
Till guns, downward pointed,
Faced "Co. K."

Who faltered or shivered?
Who shunned battle-stroke?
Whose fire was uncertain?
Whose battle-line broke?
Go, ask it of History,
Years from to-day,
And the record shall tell you,
Not "Co. K."

Though my darling is sleeping
To-day with the dead,
And daisies and clover
Bloom over his head,
I smile through my tears
As I lay it away—
That battle-worn cap,
Lettered "Co. K."

WASHINGTON, NOV. 13, 1861.

SKIRMISH OF THE NEW YORK FOURTEENTH WITH REBEL CAVALRY.

While Generals McDowell and Wadsworth were late this afternoon reviewing the brigade formerly commanded by General Keyes, a stampede occurred among a portion of the Fourteenth regiment, of Brooklyn, who were performing picket duty about a mile and a half left of Fall's Church. The flight was owing to the approach of a large squad of rebel cavalry. One of our men was wounded, but safely brought in. As soon as General McDowell heard of the affair he ordered the Twenty-fourth and Thirtieth New York regiments, and the remainder of the Fourteenth regiment of Brooklyn to support the picket, when the enemy fell back. On a survey of the ground where the skirmish took place there were signs of blood, indicating that some of the rebels were either killed or wounded. Three men have come in since the occurrence, having sought refuge in the woods. There are still some twenty-eight missing in connection with the capture by the rebels on Saturday of a detachment of the foraging party.

All is reported quiet along the lines to-night.
